

Rich thinking – An update

From the launch of Rich Thinking on March 8, 2012 (International Women’s Day) coverage has been exceptional. All articles and photos are available on the media page of my website.

Reader feedback has been supportive and heartwarming. Here is an excerpt that made me smile:

“Thank you for sharing this with me. It is wonderful. I still remember having a conversation with my daughter about money when she was eight - she thought that she could do whatever she wanted in life because we would still be paying for everything even when she was a grown-up. I realized then that we needed to talk!”

I am starting work on my next white paper scheduled for release in early 2013. Do you know any “smart” women around the world who are investing their time, energy and/or money in interesting causes? Please send them my way for a confidential interview.

I can be reached at 416.413.4216; or barbaras@cpwm.ca; or LinkedIn.

My new favorite “rich” thing:

Try a Starbucks raspberry truffle cake pop... yum!

Happy Summer to All!

Barbara

Barbara